

Photos with stories

Walk of Fame: Singer-actor Randy Travis smiles

as he touches his star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame during dedication ceremonies in Los Angeles' Hollywood district Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. Travis has been a prominent voice in country music for nearly 20 years and has won numerous Grammy and other awards, and has appeared in several feature and television movies and series. (AP Photo/Reed Saxon)

Spaceship flight: SpaceShipOne comes in for a landing after making its suborbital flight as the Mojave Aerospace Ventures Team attempts to win the Ansari X Prize in Mojave, Calif. on Wednesday, Sept. 29. The $10 million prize goes to the first team to launch the weight equivalent of three people into suborbital space twice within a two week period. During its 81-minute flight, SpaceShipOne climbed to 337,500 feet _ nearly 10,000 feet above its target, said Gregg Maryniak, executive director of the X Prize Foundation. The craft made more than two dozen unexpected rolls as the fat fuselage and spindly white wings shot skyward.(AP Photo Jim Campbell, POOL)

Jack Daniels:

Peggie Jean Bean inspects bottles of Jack Daniel's Old No. 7 Black Label whiskey before they are boxed at the distillery in Lynchburg, Tenn. on Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. The famed "sippin' whiskey," which advertises a recipe traced back to the nation's first registered distillery, has lowered the alcohol content of its flagship brand, Old No. 7 Black Label. (AP Photo/Mark Humphrey)

Bookseller:

Rueben Martinez, owner of Libreria Martinez Books and Art Gallery on Main Street, once sold books out of his barbershop.

He helps Latino children learn to read and aspiring authors to publish. (Ana Venegas, The Orange County Register)

Spaceship: SpaceShipOne designer Burt Rutan and pilot Mike Melvill, wearing white cap, take to the stage in Mojave, Calif., Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004, after the flight of the spaceship. Ignoring a warning from Rutan to abort the flight, Melvill took the stubby-looking rocket plane on a corkscrewing, white-knuckle ride past the edge of the atmosphere, completing the first stage of a quest to win the $10 million Ansari X Prize. (AP Photo/The Bakersfield Californian, Henry A. Barrios) death: James Jones Jr., with his children Catiah, 3, James Jones III, 15, and his wife Stacey, all of West Palm Beach watch a movie at the Red Cross Shelter located at the Palm Beach County Convention Center in West Palm Beach, Fla., Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. The Jones family, James, his wife Stacey and their four children relocated from Dearborn, Mich., before Hurricane Frances. (AP Photo/Palm

Jeanne

Jeanne Bush: President Bush walks past an uprooted orange tree as he and Florida Gov. Jeb Bush, right, tour damage from Hurricane Jeanne at an orange grove owned by Marty and Pat McKenna in Lake Wales, Fla., Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. (AP Photo/Tampa Tribune, Michael Spooneybarger)

Israel

Palestinians:

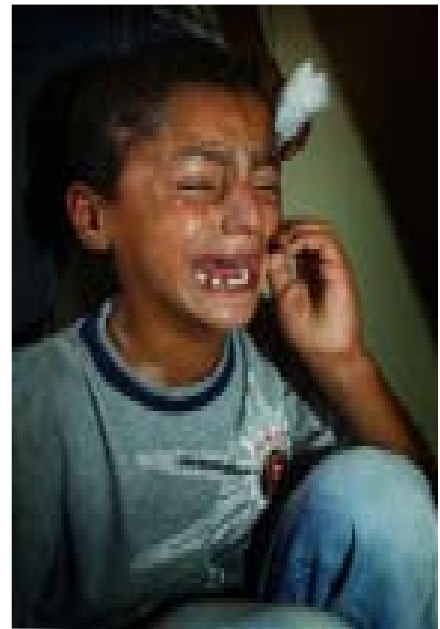

Palestinians inspect the rubble of an office belonging to Hamas after it was hit by Israeli helicopter fire in Gaza city, Thursday morning Sept. 30, 2004. Israeli helicopters fired missiles into the Hamas office in response to the earlier attack by Palestinian militants who fired a rocket into a street in the Israeli town of Sderot, killing two preschool children who were playing in a yard. (AP Photo/Adel Hana)

Israel

Palestinians

2: Yahya Jabara cries during the funeral of his father 46-year-old Sael Jabara at the family house in the village of Salem, south of the West Bank town of Nablus Wednesday Sept. 29, 2004. Jabara, a taxi driver, was shot Monday by Yehoshua Elitzur, an Israeli settler from the nearby settlement of Itamar. According to the settler he shot in self-defense after Jabara tried to run him off the road. The Palestinian passengers of the taxi say the shooting was unprovoked. Police sources say that they believe the settler and that that he is suspected of manslaughter and not murder. (AP Photo/Nasser Ishtayeh)

Iraq: U.S. soldiers block off access during a raid at Haifa street in Baghdad, Iraq, Wednesday Sept. 29, 2004. Iraqi security forces backed by U.S. troops arrested six suspected terrorists operating on Baghdad's Haifa Street on Wednesday. (AP Photo/Khalid Mohammed)

Iraq 2: Police officers try to calm the public after firing in the air to disperse a demonstration by followers of radical Shiite cleric Muqtada al-Sadr, in the holy Shiite city of Karbala, Iraq, Wednesday Sept. 29, 2004. Hundreds of thousands of Shiites are expected to visit Karbala's holy shrines of al-Hussein and al-Abbas, sons of Imam Ali, one of the most revered Shiite holy men. (AP Photo/Hadi Mizban)

Jeanne Haiti: A Haitian farmer walks through a destroyed banana plantation outside Gonaives, Haiti, Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. Hurricane Jeanne wiped out vast areas in Haiti's farming communities threatening to leave the country without food. (AP Photo/Kent Gilbert)

Colombia:

FILE

Students protest the kidnapping of Daniela Vanegas, left, in this April 2004 file photo. Daniela, 14, was kidnapped in Bogota on Oct. 6, 2003, as she was boarding her school bus. On Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004, her father, Miguel Angel Vanegas, was summoned to the city morgue. Authorities suspected a body that had been discovered stuffed into a large plastic bag in a poor Bogota neighborhood was hers, but they needed a positive identification from the father. (AP Photo/Fernando Vergara, File)

Hungary: Ferenc Gyurcsany, Hungary's new prime minister, is taking the official oath of office as the Hungarian Parliament elected him prime minister on Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004 in Budapest, Hungary. (AP Photo / Bela Szandelszky)

Photos without stories

891st sendoff: Zachary Shaffer, 6, cries as he hugs his father Vernon Shaffer, following the formal farewell ceremony for the 891st Engineering Battalion, Company B, of the Kansas Army Guard, in Coffeyville, Kan. Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 29, 2004. Vernon will join go with the 891st to train in Fort Sill, Okla. before assisting with Operation Iraqi Freedom. (AP Photo/Independence Daily Reporter, Karen Lee Mikols)

Nightclub fire: Guest affected by The Station nightclub fire gather around the entrance of a butterfly garden prior to its dedication ceremony Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004, at Roger Williams Park Zoo in Providence., R.I. The gardens, which will open to the public on Thursday, will be a permanent memorial to the 100 people who died in the Feb. 20, 2003 fire, and to recognize the more than 200 people injured, and others affected by the blaze. (AP Photo/Victoria Arocho)
Jack Daniels: Peggie Jean Bean inspects bottles of Jack Daniel's Old No. 7 Black Label whiskey before they are boxed at the distillery in Lynchburg, Tenn. on Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. The famed "sippin' whiskey," which advertises a recipe traced back to the nation's first registered distillery, has lowered the alcohol content of its flagship brand, Old No. 7 Black Label. (AP Photo/Mark Humphrey)

Laura Bush: First lady Laura Bush has her picture taken as she visits with the crowd during a rally Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004, at the Curry County Fairgrounds in Clovis, N.M. The first lady urged a mostly Republican crowd in this eastern New Mexico city to reach out to Democratic and independent voters to help win the state and re-elect her husband to a second term. (AP Photo/Clovis News Journal, Eric Kluth)

Paint: Paris Hamilton of Ely, applies a fresh coat of wood stain to the wall behind a decorative clock on the side of the Piragis building in Ely, Minn., Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 29, 2004. Wednesday's sunny skies and mid-60 degree temperatures drew people outside to try and finish up their summer and fall projects before wet, cold weather arrives on Friday. (AP Photo/Mesabi Daily News, Mark Sauer)

Hotel Strike: Joe Tong, a cook at the Mark Hopkins Inter-Continental hotel, walks a picket line outside of the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco, Wednesday, Sept. 29, 2004. Hotel workers began a two-week strike, targeting four San Francisco hotels after working without a contract for more than six weeks. An estimated 1,200 workers are picketing the Argent Hotel, Hilton San Francisco, Crowne Plaza Union Square and Mark Hopkins Inter-Continental. (AP Photo/Paul Sakuma)